

Numeracy at work

Red Kite
Learning

Red Kite Learning's Numeracy courses are an opportunity for people to improve their number skills and confidence needed on a daily basis for work and life generally.

Flexible

Delivered within the workplace or at a Red Kite Learning centre, at a time that suits both you and your employer.

Free

Funded by the European Social Fund (ESF), the London Development Agency (LDA) and the Learning and Skills Council (LSC).

Relevant

Develop real skills for real situations, such as:

- Cash handling.
- Calculating percentage increase and decrease.
- Using fractions and ratios.
- Understanding temperature controls.
- Calculating measurements from plans drawn to scale.
- Weighing and measuring accurately, using the metric system.
- Understanding and interpreting graphs and tables of information.
- Checking order forms and invoices.

Gain a Qualification

City & Guilds Certificate in Adult Numeracy, at Entry 1, Entry 2 or Entry 3.

One assignment is used to assess the whole qualification, which you can take whenever you are ready.

For more information about this qualification, visit www.cityandguilds.com.

OCR Certificate in Numeracy, at Level 1 or Level 2.

A 1hr 15 min multiple choice test of 40 questions is used to assess the qualification. Visit www.ocr.org.uk for more information.

Move On

On completion, you can advance to further learning opportunities to achieve another qualification. You will also be in a better position to advance in the workplace and in your career.
